Will Make Exhibit
of Cut Flowers

At their regular meeting on Monday, April 22, the Country Woman's Club voted to make an exhibit of cut flowers at the Floral Festival in San Jose May 1, 2, 3, 4, and a committee was appointed to arrange for and take charge of the exhibit. The members of this committee are Mesdames Ainsley, Page, Thomas, Ross, Allen and Duncan.

The committee meeting at the home of Mrs. Ainsley on Wednesday afternoon decided to ask the assistance of all flower lovers of Campbell and vicinity to make this a creditable exhibit. Donations of cut flowers are desired from every garden. The flowers should be carefully wrapped, named as far as possible and packed in boxes and delivered at the home of Mrs. Ainsley on Tuesday evening or before 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Contributions of smilax and ferns are desired also.

Tissue paper to be used in packing flowers will be furnished by the committee and can be had by calling at the Rockdale Store.

A. D. Purmort and granddaughter Miss Lucia Shorrock left yesterday for a summer visit at their old homes in Minnesota. Mr. Purmort is eighty-two years of age and is as enthusiastic as a youth, and in leaving bought a return ticket that he might be sure of getting back here. She was at one time the County President and will be remembered by many in Campbell for her bright genial ways. The next convention is to be held in Saratoga.

The Press has just finished a large run of stationery for C. H. Whitman who has adopted a very neat way of advertising Campbell, "in the heart of the famous Santa Clara Valley." A very comprehensive write-up is printed on the back of his letter heads, which shows a true progressive public spirit on the part of Mr. Whitman, and is a worthy example.

HE LEFT BUSYBODY THINKING

Urchin's Line of Fun With Man Who Needs Must Pry Into Other People's Business.

The small urchin climbed up the car steps and wormed himself into a seat beside the Busybody. The basket he was carrying the youngster fixed carefully between his feet, with several anxious glances in the process.

"What have you in that basket, my boy?" asked his neighbor, bending over confidentially. "I noticed how careful you were of it. It must be something quite valuable. Isn't it?" "Ye're hep, old sport. It's something 'thin' that's worth a whole heap."

"Well, won't you tell me what it is?" "Not on yer life! Thing I want to get pinched?"

This was too much for the Busybody. His curiosity, heretofore merely casual, grew suddenly pointed, and he bit.

"Well, sonny, I've a notion that if I gave you a nickel you'd tell me what you had in that basket."

"Make it a dime, and I'll do it!" whispered the boy. "Only ye've got to promise not to give me away to de cop."

"Why, of course I'll promise."

The boy pocketed the coin. "Well, sport, dey's a baby in dere. I hooked 'im, an' put 'im inside when dey wasn't nobody lookin'."

"Now I'll get a reward for returnin' 'im."

"Why, you young villain! Do you mean to say you have a baby in that basket? Lying in that thing will kill it. Where did you get it?"

"Oh, I picked it up in front o' one o' dem big stores. It was all alone, so I jus' took it. I guess it won't be missed, an' I wanted one, any way."

"Not be missed! See here, you young blackguard! Do you mean to say that its mother had deserted it?"

"Sure! Its mudder wasn't nowhere round."

"How old is it?"

"Oh, a few months, I guess. Big enough to equal—so I tied a rag round its mouf."

"Well, lift up the cover and let me see how it looks."

"Hol' on, ol' top. You promised not to give me away."

"Yes, but I didn't expect—" and he lifted the cover and glanced at what was underneath. Curled up on an old cloth, and sleeping comfortably, was in insignificant looking yellow puppy.

The boy jumped up and grinned. "Well, here's where I get off. Thanks for de dime. An' say, I'll tell ye one ten times as good as that for a quarter. Come an' see me some time at me sallong on Fift' Avenoo! So long!"

Little Basques' Responsibilities.

In "Children at Play and Other Sketches," by Rose M. Bradley, we are introduced to the sunny little Basque boys and girls, playing hide and seek games late into the summer nights, says the London Queen. It seems that the Basque lads have to learn French twice over: they are taught in school the first time, but such is their patriotic independence (or is it the line of least resistance?) that they lose what they have learned, and the penalty of this "deliberate forgetfulness" is that in their conscript days they have the mortification and pain of learning it all over again! But, pleasure seekers as the young natives may be, there are duties also for even babes to perform. It may seem incredible that a little barelegged boy of 8 or 9 should be the trusted lamp-lighter of the district, yet so it is, and it is far more astounding to read of a "railway official" of 4 or 5, who may be seen "seated upon a minute chair on the platform grasping a red flag, which it is his business to wave when a train approaches, presumably as a warning to his brethren and the chickens who play unconcernedly upon the rails. . . . He feels that the responsibility of the traffic of the whole line to Bayonne rests upon his little shoulders."

Guayule, the Rubber Plant.

Guayule was for years overlooked or despised; its rubber content was considered of little or no value, and when at last acknowledged this was said to be inferior to other rubber because it did not come from the tropics. Yet in spite of all guayule has become an important source of rubber supply, millions of dollars have been invested in the industry, factories have been erected close to the guayule fields and towns have grown up for the operatives and field laborers. Every process of the production of rubber from the plant has been developed into a system; even gathering the shrub receives more care than at first; but the essence of the whole problem, that is, the propagation of guayule so that a continuous supply may be assured, is as yet unsolved, and if once the land is completely cleared and the chances of renewal lost the industry will wither and die, and the busy areas of today will become depopulated and revert to the wilderness.

What Ailed Him.

"I want you to tell me plainly, doctor," said the man with the fat government position, "what is the matter with me?" "Well, sir," answered the old doctor, leaning back in his chair and looking at his beefy, red-faced patient, "you are suffering from underwork and overpay."

GOT EVEN WITH NEWLYWEDS

Friends Inserted Small "Ad" in Newspaper, and Seekers After Bargains Did the Rest.

Bright dreams of wedded bliss were shattered by a tiny want ad. Instead of a day all by themselves, as they had planned, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Joleen, newlyweds, spent eight strenuous hours receiving strangers, who wanted to buy the brand-new furnishings of their cozy flat at No. 4851 West Van Buren street.

Here is the ad that wrecked their happiness:

FOR SALE—Furniture, entire furnishings of six-room flat; everything new and in first-class condition, including a piano-player. Call Sunday, between 8 a. m. and 9 p. m., at 4851 West Van Buren street. No reasonable offer refused.

The Joleens knew nothing about it. They were serenely happy. The groom was showing his bride the cozy corners of their nest.

"How do you like it, my darling?" he inquired anxiously.

"Oh, Nels, it's just too—"

Mrs. Joleen's reply was interrupted by a hammering at the door.

"Hey! What'll you take fer the planer?" asked a man when the door was opened.

"Don't want to sell it. Good day," said Joleen.

Again he turned to his bride. Again a knock on the door.

"I seen your ad in the paper," said another prospective buyer.

"No, you didn't. I didn't have any ad. I don't want to sell anything. I'm busy. Good day," replied Joleen.

All day long Joleen and his wife answered the bell and knocks at the door and turned away the would-be buyers of furniture and piano-players.

About 6 o'clock in the evening it suddenly dawned upon them that the friends whose rice and old shoes they had dodged by leaving the church where they were married through a side entrance after the ceremony, had persevered in their joking and had won.

The groom grinned sheepishly, then called a taxicab. The only quiet moments the couple had during the day were spent at a downtown hotel.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Nature Student.

"The bat, when winter comes," said a nature student, "folds his long ears against his sides, shuts off his heart and, hanging head down from some black corner of barn or smokehouse, hibernates till spring. In March he begins to wake up."

"Lizards and snakes hibernate underground. Frogs hibernate in the frozen mud at the bottom of their ponds. It's nothing to them that they freeze stiff. A frog so stiff frozen in February that you could break him like a soda cracker will thaw out in a warm March as chipper as you please."

"Rats and mice don't hibernate. They come indoors. They leave their cold fields and sewers and they take up their quarters in our nice, warm, steam-heated houses. There it's jolly plenty to eat, no snow, no sleet, no piercing March winds. The winter season makes no difference to the rats and mice, save that, while always marrying and giving in marriage, they marry and give in marriage more than ever in our comfortable houses, rearing, at our expense and on our food, litters that in their vast numbers would content even a rat Roosevelt."

Honest Pharmacist.

That "honesty is the best policy" is an axiom that has not been received with entire favor in France may be inferred from the following: Last November a Paris pharmacist who had made a blunder in a medicine that he had prepared discovered soon after delivering it to an unknown woman that he had put into it a most dangerous poison. He inserted in a number of daily papers a notice warning the unknown customer not to use the medicine. This conscientious publication has had a disagreeable result for the pharmacist. He was hunted out by the police for having delivered a poisonous substance without a physician's prescription. He has just settled by paying a fine of 100 francs.

But the customer had not remained unknown or undiscovered. The police had found her. She had not seen any of the notices the pharmacist had put in the papers. But dowered with an excellent scent she had not used the medicine "because it did not seem quite right."

Oriental Metaphor.

The Oriental speaks naturally in metaphor. Even the children continually use figures of speech which are often poetical and always suggestive. The Washington Star thus quotes Bishop Oldham, a missionary bishop of the Methodist church. He writes from Singapore.

"I wish you could hear some of the expressive phrases of the native boys. A lad the other day was describing to me the abstemiousness of his father. 'Oh, he is content with very little,' he said. 'Such a very little!' Here he pointed to the ground. 'No more than the water in the holes made by a chicken's feet.'"

He smiled and resumed: "He eats nothing. A grain or two of rice contents him. You should see him at his meals. He is like a hound munching flies."

Diplomatic.

"How did you get your wife to forego her desire for that expensive evening gown?" "Told her it was just the thing a plain woman needed."—Judge.

EXPERIMENTS IN BREEDING HORSES FOR U. S. CAVALRY

Two Well Known Stallions, Henry of Navarre and Octagon, Placed at Command of Farmers in Vicinity of Front Royal, Virginia—Colts Bring $150 When Three Years Old.

United States Cavalry Horse.

The public generally knows that the government has outlined a plan to encourage the breeding of horses for the army whereby mare owners in suitable sections will have the command of service to first-class stallions free, in return for which they agree to give the United States options on resulting foals at a fair price. The plan was taken up as a means to provide a good supply of horses such as the army needs, which, strange as it may seem, is rapidly becoming more and more limited. An appropriation was suggested at the last session of congress, but no action was taken, one objection being that the plan was not practical—that farmers would not enter into such agreements with the government.

Fortunately, funds were available to make an experiment to determine this point. Mr. August Belmont, of New York, presented to the government two of his best-known stallions, Henry of Navarre and Octagon, and the Department of Agriculture placed them at the command of farmers in the vicinity of Front Royal, Virginia, on exactly the terms outlined in the government plan. By the approval of the war department, the price to be paid for the resulting foals at three years of age was $150, and no difficulty whatever was experienced in getting farmers to breed their mares under these terms. About 50 mares were bred, the stallions reaching Virginia somewhat late in the season and Octagon's usefulness being curtailed by a severe attack of distemper. The interest of the Virginia farmers is keen, and already fifty additional mares have been offered for the season of 1912, and the services of more stallions could easily be utilized. Circular 178 of the Bureau of Animal Industry explains the department's breeding plan and may be obtained on application to the secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

EGGS PRODUCED BY HEN IN YEAR

About Five Dozen Per Fowl Is Fair Estimate, Counting Good, Bad and Indifferent.

According to statistics the average number of eggs laid by each hen in this country foots up about five dozen. This is counting the good, bad and indifferent. But if the statistics were taken from poultry farm reports exclusively, the average would be ten dozen. The average farmer is careless with his fowls, and does not, as a rule, gather all the eggs the hens lay for the reason that in their free range they have hidden nests and the eggs in consequence are often lost. With the improved methods of breeding, the average with the poultry men will in a few years run as high as 150 eggs per hen per annum. Individual records have been reported that are fast scoring up to the 300 mark, but it is very doubtful if they will ever get near it, for a hen must have a sufficient number of days to molt, and the calendar gives us but 365 days in the year.

JERSEY BULL A SPEEDY RACER

Full-Blood Animal Trained to Pace Mile in Less Than 2:40—Is Exceedingly Docile.

A full-blooded Jersey bull, which can pace a mile in harness attached to a sulky in less than 2:40, and which can be ridden in the saddle at even better gait has created quite a sensation in Pennsylvania. The bull is four years old, fawn in color and weighs 1,100 pounds. His owner says he frequently rides the animal and finds him as easy-going as a pacing horse.

The bull is exceedingly docile and seems to take great pleasure in speeding and it requires no effort to keep him up to the top notch whether ridden or driven.

Big Kansas Wheat Crop.

According to the report of the United States department of agriculture, the Kansas crop of winter wheat in 1911 was 35 per cent. greater than that of any other state in the Union.

RANGE LAMBS RETURN PROFITS

Feeder Not Only Makes Money on Feed, but Secures Large Benefit From Manure Dropped.

(By W. M. KELLEY.) The great advantage of feeding range lambs is the fact that the home-grown forage and fodders together with the otherwise waste products of the farm may be turned to profit. This may be done with a minimum expense for the purchase of highly concentrated by-product foods and mill-feeds that are required to make a satisfactory fattening ration for other kinds of stock.

Feeding range lambs like other branches of sheep feeding is sure to become more popular as farmers appreciate the necessity of cutting out the purchase of large amounts of grain food and feeding a class of live stock that are capable of turning their grain food and forage that is grown on their own farms to a profit.

Practically every line of feeding that is conducted outside of the corn belt states has been developed upon a basis of cheap grain foods and now that every kind of grain foods have reached a price that makes their use almost out of the question, the average feeder is finding his profits growing smaller.

The men who have been feeding sheep have not felt the rise in grain prices as severely as other feeders because sheep can be put in good condition with a smaller quantity of grain and concentrates. In feeding range lambs the feeder not only makes a profit on the original cost of the lambs, but as well on the cost of the food which is grown on their farms, and in addition there is a large return of fertility to the soil, when the manure is carefully handled.

In England this branch of feeding has been conducted for many years and it has been found a very profitable way to increase the fertility of the soil as well as a profitable way to utilize grain, grass and root crops.

There are excellent inducements to feed range lambs, especially for the man who does not desire to keep live stock on his farm during the whole of the year; and many farmers are fixed so they could profitably conduct winter stock feeding at a profit, but who have too much other labor on their farms during the crop growing season.

There is money to be made by feeding range lambs if a man understands the fundamental principles of the business and grows a wide variety of forage, fodders and grain crops.

Starting in Hogs.

The amount of capital required to launch an energetic farmer in the hog raising business is not great, and if care is exercised, fair profits will be obtained the first year.

INTERESTING TO MANY BOYS

There is No Present That Will Be So Dear to Heart of Youth as Pen of Bantam Chickens.

Whenever you see a pen of bantams shown you always hear a number of people voicing their wonder as to the utility of these small birds. Strictly speaking they are of no real use. The birds are altogether too small to be raised for the table, though they are far more tender than their larger relatives. The bantam eggs are smaller than ever the eggs of a Leghorn pullet and it takes about three of them to equal two ordinary eggs. Nevertheless the bantams occupy a place in the chicken world that is far more important than most people think.

They are bred for two reasons, for breeding purposes and for pets. In the former they are bred to sell for pets and so it all amounts to the same thing. As pets for children or for people who have no desire to raise chickens for practical purposes, the bantams have no superior. There is no present that will be so dear to the heart of a boy or as useful to him as a pen of bantams. Without anything to interest him at home outside of the inanimate objects of the play room, there are few boys, especially in the cities, who are not roaming around on the streets. In a pen of bantams a boy has an interest which keeps him home and keeps him busy.

ELECTRIC TOYS THAT AMAZE

Few Examples of Playthings That Will Open Eyes of Boys—Girls Also Remembered.

Some of the electrical toys now on the market are actual wonders—working models in reality of the big electrical equipments seen all about us, says the Popular Electricity. Here are a few examples which will prove to be eye-openers to a great many boys who are not in a position to visit the large electrical supply stores where such things are on exhibition: For instance, there is a little steamship (1) complete in all its outward details, which is driven by a battery and motor concealed in its hull. It may be started, stopped or reversed from a small switchboard through a waterproof connecting cable. Then there is a small fan (2) which is not a mere toy, but which will give a good stiff breeze. It is actuated by a substantial motor suitable for other purposes.

Street lamps with real lights (3) and (5) operate from a battery.

Complete electrically operated street cars (7), with electric headlights and any desired amount of track are obtainable, and if desired, this track may be protected by electric block signals (4).

The girls have also been remembered, and one of the things which interests them most is a complete electric range with cooking utensils which operates from the lighting circuit, and which is capable of doing real cooking.

Electrical Toys That Are Wonders.

mother sold her mangle?" "Who shot the dog?" and "How are you off for soap?" survive only in the pages of contemporary novelists. Some, however, have a long life. "Does your mother know you're out?" has been traced back to 1840 and may possibly have been current before then. Others are revived, with slight alterations. Ten years ago rude little boys would shout, "Where did you get that hat?" when their grandfathers would exclaim, "What! the same old hat!" And the expression of dissent emphasized nowadays by "Not in these trousers!" used to be conveyed thirty years ago by the tag, "Not in these boots!"

THE CROW AND THE PITCHER.

The crow has been flying and flying all day long. He is looking for water to drink. "If I could only get some water," he says.

He flies first one way, then another way. But he cannot find any. "O, there is a pitcher!"

There is water in it! But it is far down in the pitcher.

He puts his head in as far as he can. But he cannot get a drink.

"I'll tilt the pitcher over," he says. See him try.

But he cannot tilt it over. "I must have a drink," he says. "How can I get it?"

There are some small white stones! Look! He picked up one. He drops it into the pitcher.

Watch him pick up one after another. He drops them all into the pitcher. The water rises higher and higher.

Now the crow can get a drink. "Caw, caw, caw," says the wise old crow. "Where there's a will there's a way."

CLEVER TRICK WITH FIGURES

Enjoyable Delusion May Be Sprung by Boys and Girls on Their Friends—Result Always Six.

Boys and girls who are fond of springing tricks upon their friends will enjoy the following one:

Ask some one to choose any number on the clock and add it to the number directly opposite. This is to be done to himself, not out loud. Then tell him to imagine that these two numbers are joined by a line and that another line is drawn at right angles to the first line, so that a cross is formed.

Tell the person to add together the two numbers at the ends of this second line; then to find the difference between the sum and the sum of the first two numbers. Then announce that you can tell the result. No matter what figure on the clock face has been first chosen, if the addition is correct, the result will be six. Try it.

Good Spring Tonic

"We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a spring tonic and as a blood purifier. Last spring I was not well at all. When I went to bed I was tired and nervous and could not sleep well. In the morning I would feel twice as tired; my mother got a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took. I felt like a new person when I had finished that bottle. We always have some of Hood's medicines in the house." Hilvey Roselle, Marinette, Wis.

There is no "just as good" medicine. Insist on having Hood's.

Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Large Finds of Pure Metal Unlikely

Men have found a mass of native copper weighing 420 tons and they have discovered a chunk of pure silver weighing one and one-half tons, but the largest nugget of gold has yet been seen weighed only 190 pounds. And gold seekers are informed that larger finds in the future are unlikely.

Boating on Boiling Lakes.

In the southern part of New Zealand there are hot springs where the Maoris go boating on boiling lakes. There are also little holes in the earth through which the steam spouts, and the native women use these places instead of fires for cooking.

Japan Fosters Home Industries.

The Japanese are making great strides in the woolen industry, and by importing the latest modern machinery are striving to manufacture all classes of woolen goods that find a market in Japan.

Portland cement production in the world is now said to be 25,000,000 tons.

CANCER OF TUMOR

Cured without fail by my new German method; painless extraction; no knife or other cutting operation. Most cancers start with small pimples or tumors on face or body and keep growing until they ulcerate. Any small lump in a woman's breast, if it fails to yield to ordinary remedies, is cancer. Obtain scientific treatment before scientific treatment before it is too late. Charges reasonable; money refunded if fail to cure. Patients from out of town can have room in my own residence. DR. R. PROPER WAY TO DRAG ROAD

State Highway Engineer of Kansas Issues Detailed Instructions on Methods to Follow.

Mr. W. S. Gearhart, state highway engineer of Kansas, has sent instructions to all township road officials in Kansas on the proper methods to follow in dragging roads. It costs from $4 to $10 per mile per year to drag a road, the cost depending on the particular road, the soil, rainfall and amount of traffic. Mr. Gearhart's instructions follow.—Editor.

Make a light drag, which is hauled over the road at an angle of about 45 degrees, so that a small amount of earth is pushed to the center of the road.

Drive the team at a walk.

Ride on the drag. Do not walk along the side.

Begin at one side of the road or wheel track, returning on the opposite side.

Drag the road as soon after every rain as possible, but not when the mud is in such condition as to stick to the drag.

Do not drag a dry road.

Drag whenever possible at all seasons of the year. If a road is dragged immediately before a cold spell it will freeze in a smooth condition.

The width of the traveled road to be maintained by the drag should be from 16 to 20 feet. First drag a little more than the width of a single track, then gradually increase until the desired width is obtained.

Always drag a little earth to the center of the road until it is raised from 10 to 12 inches above the edge of the traveled way.

If the drag cuts too much shorten the hitch.

The amount of earth that the drag will carry along can be very considerably controlled by the driver accordingly as he stands near the cutting edge or away from it.

When the roads are first dragged after a very muddy spell the wagon should drive if possible to one side until the road has a chance to freeze or partially dry out.

Dragging reduces the mud in wet weather and the dust in dry weather. The best results from dragging are obtained only by repeated applications. Remember that constant attention is necessary to maintain an earth road in the best condition.

PREPARE HORSE FOR SPRING

Animals Should Be Hitched for Short Time Each Day and Amount of Work Gradually Increased.

As the time approaches for the heavy work to begin, the horses should be hitched for a short time each day, and the amount of work gradually increased as they become hardened. It is necessary to not only harden the muscles of the horse, but to harden the shoulders to the collar as well.

There are a variety of feeds, all of which are well suited to the needs of the horses, and will give satisfactory results when judiciously used. For a long time oats and timothy hay have been considered a standard for working horses, and I think there is nothing better, says a writer in the Farm Progress.

Timothy is not very palatable. Horses are not likely to gorge themselves with it, and oats, having large, coarse hulls, are bulky, and as a result they become more thoroughly mixed with saliva during the process of mastication, and when they enter the stomach are more readily acted upon by the digestive juices. Because of this fact a horse is less subject to deranged digestion and colic caused by careless or improper feeding.

Good, pure water is important, and this the horses should have in plentiful supply at all times.

Hand-Shell Seed Corn Best.

Shelling seed corn carefully by hand is profitable. The greater the acreage planted the greater the profit. Into a shallow pan or box each ear should be shelled separately, rejecting any worm-eaten or blemished kernels. If the supply from the one ear appears good and contains no poor kernels, it is poured into the general supply and another ear shelled in the same way.

Getting Test of Seed.

Before planting any large quantity of small grain, grass or clover seed send a sample to your state experiment station for examination. The seeds of many obnoxious plants are to be found in impure and unreliable seeds. It is far easier to do this than to eradicate some pestiferous weed that obtains a firm foothold on your farm.

Influence of Good Cows.

It would be easier to keep good men on the farm if the dairy farmers would keep better cows. A man appreciates the opportunity of handling good stock, and he realizes that some responsibility is placed upon him if he knows that nothing but valuable and profitable cattle are kept.

Worth of Labels on Package.

J. H. Hale, the great peach king, said in a recent speech that his labels cost him 40 cents per 1,000, and he sells them for 50 cents apiece; that is, he gets 50 cents more per package on account of the neat attractive label and well-packed box.

Advantage of Fall Freshening.

By having cows freshen in the fall instead of the spring, from 25 to 50 pounds of butter fat may be added to the production of each cow each year. This is a point in the management of a dairy farm that should receive your attention.

The Dingo.

The dingo is a species of wild dog found in Australia, and is to that country what the wolf is to eastern Europe and the coyote to America. Hunting in packs, he is a perpetual menace to Australia's chief industry, the breeding of sheep. Owing to his cunning and swiftness the dingo is able to hold his own in central Australia, and is likely to do so for a long time to come, notwithstanding the fact that a generous price is set upon his head by the government.

Marines.

Marines—soldiers serving on ship-board—date back to the year 1664, when an order in council, dated October 16, authorized 1,200 English soldiers to be raised and formed into a regiment. More regiments were later formed, and by 1759 the marines numbered 18,000 men. In the latter years of the French wars they numbered 32,000. The marines are today a feature of every navy, and in most countries officers of the marines are equal in rank with those in the army and navy.

Best Inducement for Work.

The simplest affection may become a thing of beauty; the love of any human being comes to our lives as the great reveal. By this alone we hear and see. It is also the great health giver. Our work no longer continues selfish when the thought of another is constantly with us; there is always an avenue for relief from the deadening routine and tedium. Work with a thought of some one else is living work, and that which is living becomes beautiful.—Arthur L. Salmon.

Joke by Accident.

You may wrong the child by the name you give it. In this matter the girl baby has the advantage of the boy. She can change it at maturity. A friend of mine whose name was Creamer had a daughter who was christened Constance—very thoughtlessly. A good name for a baby, perhaps, when you put them together. But it took her twenty-three years to change it and spoil the joke.—London Chronicle.

Cure for Snoring.

The invention of a light steel bar to be held against the upper lips by clamps to prevent persons from snoring is announced in the patent office, but many persons are convinced that a crowbar driven deftly through the ranium is the only permanent cure.

Very Emotional.

"Ever see one of these barefoot fencers? Their steps are symbolic; every step means something." "I saw one of 'em land on a tack one night. Her steps were full of meaning for he next few minutes."

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

An Eye to Economy.

"Now, remember, Ike, that you've got a good glass eye you've got. Always take it out and put it in your pocket when you ain't looking at noddings."

Error in Conditions Somewhere.

SERVING LIGHT MEALS

EASY WAY TO COOK FOR ONE OR TWO AT TABLE.

Panned Chops Are Good, Make Little Work, and Need Spread No Odor
—How Quick Breakfast Breads May Be Prepared.

Panned Chops.—When the kitchen is near the living room it is important to cook meat in a manner to avoid odors. Panned chops do not offend the atmosphere with cooking, although there is bound to be some odor with meat. For one person buy two rib or loin lamb chops, getting the butcher to French the first—that is, trim down the bone so it will be bare. Rub a dry pan, only large enough to hold the two chops, with a cut clove of garlic, put it over the blaze, and when smoking hot lay in the meat. Turn quickly so as to sear both sides, and cook only long enough; which is to say, have the chops with some pink inside when served. The juices, and even a touch of pure blood, should run with the cutting. As the chops cook pour off the grease that gathers, and when cooked put the meat on a very hot plate and then salt, pepper and butter it. If chops are seasoned before cooking they will be tough. If allowed to cook in the grease which draws from the fat they will be fried and more highly flavored with the mutton odor. Steak may be cooked in the same way.

Quick Breakfast Breads.—The light housekeeper who knows how to make light breakfast cakes, dainty popovers, drop biscuits and gems of any sort is lucky indeed. The rest of us must be content with the bakers' staff of life, warmed up and tinkered with somehow to vary the taste. The bakeshops corn muffins, graham gems, biscuit, English muffins and crumpets can all be made delicious with warming or toasting. If only an asbestos is available for the reheating, put muffins, biscuits or gems on this and invert a saucepan over them to keep in the heat. If there is a toaster, split the English muffins and brown them like any bread with the little convenience. The crumpets may be reheated in a double boiler or be made exquisitely appetizing by being heated in a pan with a lump of butter on top of each "crump," as the dainties heat through the butter melts and permeates them. Put the brown sides of the crumpets against the pan. With the inside of French bread pulled bread can be made. Yank out the soft part while the bread is fresh and brown the pieces on a toaster. The rusks put up in paper boxes are very convenient to have in the house, as, also, are the soda biscuits, saltines and graham wafers. With any one of these breads, marmalade and a good cup of coffee the lone woman has no need to yearn for a better breakfast.

For over fifty years Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and other painful ailments have been cured by Hamlin's Wizard Oil. It is a good honest remedy and you will not regret having a bottle ready for use.

Ever Darn Your Face?

From a "Helps to Housekeepers" column: "For the woman who wishes to keep her face in good condition there are strong metal frames to be had which make the darning easier." No, it's no new beauty treatment; the composing room did it with their little hatchet. It was her "lace" and not her face that the woman was to keep in good condition.—Detroit News.

Golden Rule.

Whatever I have tried to do at all, I have tried with all my heart to do well. What I have devoted myself to, I have devoted myself to completely. Never to put one hand on anything on which I could not throw my whole self, and never to affect depreciation of my work, whatever it was, I find now to have been one of my golden rules.—Charles Dickens.

Not Their Hour to Die.

A Lisbon, Portugal, official and his family had a most harrowing experience, recently, narrowly escaping death. While dining with his wife and two children, a dynamite bomb was thrown into the dining-room, practically wrecking the house. The official and his wife were seriously injured, but the children escaped.

"My greatest profanity provocation," writes J. S. L., "is to be taken to a church entertainment by my wife and have to remain calm while a gawky, six-footed thing which calls itself a tenor and has a face like a carp, warbles, 'I Wish I Were a Rose.'"

Marketing Hints.

Aim to allow one-half pound of meat for each person. The fat should be firm, but if hard and skinny it indicates that the animal was old and tough; if thin, from a scrawny animal. Beef or mutton should be a deep rose color and the fat a rich cream. The choicest cuts for roasting are the sixth, seventh and eighth ribs, the sirloin and porterhouse cuts. Sirloin and short cut porterhouse steaks are the best, although many prefer the pinbone steak.

When selecting poultry see that the feet are soft and moist, the eyes clear and the flesh plump.—Philadelphia Times.

Amusing Trick of Messengers.

The stamp trick is a very common one with messengers because of the amount of amusement derived from it. It consists in sticking a new stamp on a step or some prominent place, and watching the various attempts of passers-by to pick it up, which, of course, are unsuccessful.—London Mail.

Icelanders are now famous for their high standard of education. Real Blue Blood.

An Irish contractor had the misfortune to run his car over an old man who had a bottle of bluing inside his coat. AS soon as the more urgent duties are off your hands, wipe the perspiration from your brow and begin anew but on a different tack. Get the weed habit and keep it till the weeds are off your property.

ALL over the Santa Clara Valley, famous throughout the world for its delicious fruits, the processes of pruning the trees and thinning the fruit is under way. Those unfamiliar with the thinning process would be greatly surprised to see many times the apricots under the tree as on it after the process but this is necessary to grow the largest and choicest fruit.

I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man who lives in it so that his place will be proud of him. Be honest, but hate no one; overturn a man's wrongdoing, but do not overturn him unless it must be done in overturning the wrong. Stand with anybody that stands right. Stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong.—Abraham Lincoln.

RAISIN DAY APRIL 30
Next Tuesday is Raisin Day in California and according to the custom everybody is urged to eat raisins, and thereby boost one of the big branches of agriculture in this state. Everybody in this great state believes in that grand motto, "live and let live" and so to promote the growing industry, the rest of the state will partake of that luscious fruit the raisin to aid the producing section. You may have it dry or soaked, in puddings or pies, on or off the vine, but whatever you do, eat raisins.

What a Man Owes To His Home Town
What does a man owe to his town? He owes this duty to himself and the town—to own a part of it. Ever so small a lot, if he can't own a big one. A forty foot front if he can do no better. But he should own a part of the town that gives him a stake in it.

That man who owns a home in the town never calls his town "It." When he speaks of it he says "Our Town." And he has a right to. He is a stockholder, a partner.
More than that, when he owns a piece of ground, farm or town lot, he has a stake in the Earth. He is a citizen of the universe. His property extends from the brimstone out to the stars. Even now they are disputing concerning the right of an airship to sail through the air over a man's house without the owners permission. The very thought is enough to make a man feel chesty. And with good cause.

A man owes it to his town to shout its advantages from the housetops. The entire registry list should be a promotion committee. If necessary put blinders on the visitor, and let him see but what you want him to see. When he asks you what chance a poor man has in town, tell him the truth. Tell him the poor man is the only man who has a chance. And that is no joke. Show him the beautiful homes of the men who came here with a capital of working hands and thinking brains.—Robert J. Burdette.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB
At the meeting of the Campbell Improvement Club, matters of interest to every citizen were discussed. Mr. Lanz reported on the fire proposition and several new ideas were suggested which it is hoped will later materialize to benefit all residents. The committee on the new advertisement booklet reported progress. As a result of the Club's interest flowers will be planted along Campbell Avenue east of town. It might not come amiss here to mention to our readers that as the Club has only limited means to carry on the work of beautifying our town, any work that may be done by the individuals, and there are many who are helping in this line, will be greatly appreciated by all passers by.

CAMPBELL SLUGGERS WIN
Mountain View High School sluggers crossed bats with the Campbell natives Friday evening, and went down to defeat by a score of 7 to 4.
Dawley's twisters in the groove were the hardest ideas to connect with that the visitors have yet seen, said "dottie" having cut off 13 without a look-in. Freyschlag's single handed double play brot down the house and to make his fame secure he slammed out a homer with the first ball put across the plate for him.

All the locals played better ball than the week before and you may expect the next game to be still better.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
